

As of January 10, 2017

Cohen Veterans Network Quick Summary

The Cohen Veterans Network publicly launched in April 2016. Steven A. Cohen Military Family clinics then opened in San Antonio (May), Dallas (June), Los Angeles (October) and Philadelphia (October). These clinics joined New York to complete a group of five pilot clinics.

By summer 2017, the network will expand to El Paso, Denver, Colorado Springs, Washington D.C. and Fayetteville N.C. Another wave of expansion is planned for the end of 2017.

Current results:

- CVN clinics treated more than 1,400 clients across the country in 2016.
- Among all of our clients, woman represent 40% of the population. Among just veterans, woman make up 25% of the group.

The approximate breakdown of the client outpatient population at the four new clinics:

- 65% veterans
- 25% adult family members (non-veterans)
- 10% children

Key takeaways:

- CVN is treating the entire military family as 35% of our clients are non-veterans.
- The vast majority of our clients (90%) have experienced first appointments within one week after contacting our clinics.
- CVN is seeing veterans who have served in the United States Armed Forces, regardless of role while in uniform or discharge status. This includes the National Guard and Reserves.
- We are treating parents, siblings, spouses or partners, children, caretakers, and others.

ABOUT CVN

Our Steven A. Cohen Military Family Clinics treat a variety of mental health issues including depression, anxiety, post-traumatic stress, adjustment issues, anger, grief and loss, family issues, transition challenges, relationship problems, and children's behavioral problems. The high-quality care is confidential and accessible, at no-cost to the military families.

MEDIA CONTACT

Anthony Guido, Vice President of Communications & Marketing
anthony.guido@cohenveteransnetwork.org