CVN'S TEXAS CLINICS CARED FOR MORE THAN 1,100 VETERANS AND FAMILY MEMBERS IN FIRST YEAR

National non-profit network will build on success in San Antonio and Dallas to open in El Paso and Killeen in the coming months to reach more of the state's military families

Stamford, Conn., June 22, 2017 – The Cohen Veterans Network (“CVN”) pilot clinics in San Antonio and Dallas helped more than 1,100 veterans and military family members in their first years of operation. The network will leverage that success with two more Cohen Clinics in Texas, opening in El Paso and Killeen in the coming months.

“We are very pleased to have delivered high-quality mental health care at our first two Texas locations. We founded our network promising to treat the entire family, with low wait times, and we have delivered in San Antonio and Dallas,” said CVN President & CEO Dr. Anthony Hassan. “Based on this early success and support from the State of Texas, we are moving forward on two additional locations to reach the military family population and have also launched telehealth to help extend our care even further.”

The Steven A. Cohen Military Family Clinics in Texas were each joined by a U.S. Army veteran and U.S. Paralympic athlete, to help mark the first anniversary. Sitting Volleyball gold medalist (2016) Kari Miller spoke to group of community leaders at San Antonio’s anniversary event in May. Jen Lee, a 2014 gold medalist in Sled Hockey, addressed a similar crowd this month in Dallas.

“Thank you for what you do to provide care for our veterans. This clinic is inspiring,” said Lee. “For me, getting out of that hospital bed and dealing with the emotional side of my recovery was a key step to getting to where I am now.”

CVN’s partner in San Antonio, Family Endeavors, will also operate the Cohen Clinics in El Paso and Killeen. The State of Texas has provided partial funding to help establish each location, thanks in part to the efforts of State Senator Jane Nelson (District 12).

“As the daughter of a World War II veteran, I am grateful for the work of those supporting our veterans and their loved ones – especially families impacted by post-traumatic stress and other mental health challenges,” said Senator Nelson.

The Cohen Clinic in El Paso will open by the end of summer, while Killeen will open by the end of fall.

CVN's partner in Dallas, Metrocare, was the first in the network to launch CVN Telehealth. The CVN Telehealth platform is a secure, HIPAA compliant, online video session between a clinician and a client. This allows for clients to take part in a therapy session from the comfort of their home using devices such as a tablet, smart phone or desktop computer.
